

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, October 12. 1703.

From the Hague Gazette, dated October 15.

Vienna, September 29.

Letters from Hungary of the 26th of this Month advise, that the Rebels have divided themselves into several Bodies, and continue to commit great Disorders: That on the 21st 3000 of them took Zolnock, a Post of considerable Strength on the Theisse, by Assault, putting the Garrison of 100 Men, commanded by an Irish Captain nam'd Walters, to the Sword; That a Party of them, getting into the Suburbs of Louwen, kill'd all the Inhabitants who had not time to escape into the Town; That another Detachment of them, led by 2 Officers of Note, nam'd Paul Oros and Ibrani, who serv'd in quality of Collonels in the last War of Hungary, and have since lain out of Employment, has pals'd the Theisse and laid Siege to Zatmar; That on the 25th instant, 700 of the Rebels surpriz'd the little Town of Bargan, lying over against Gran, and pillag'd it, notwithstanding the great Fire made upon them from the Cannon of Gran; and that they are but too well furnish'd with Cannon and Ammunitions taken in the Places which they have master'd. Some Advices from Turkey tell us, that on the 6th of this Month Deputies from Prince Ragotzi arriv'd at Adrianople, and had a favourable Audience of the new Ministry; And that several Hungarian Officers and Gentlemen who follow'd Count Teckely into Turkey, and were afterwards dispers'd into divers parts of Asia, begin to draw together to return to Hungary and put themselves into the Service of Prince Ragotzi. 'Tis apprehended the Rebels have a Design to endeavour to possess themselves of Newheusel, to prevent which the Regiment of Cuirassiers of Hanover is sent thither from hence, and will be follow'd by the Dragoons of Schlick, and other Troops.

From the Amst. and Harl. Courants, Oct. 13 & 16.

Vienna, October 3. General Schlick has orders to repair to Hungary with all possible speed, to take upon him the Command of the Troops that are to act against the Rebels; but is detain'd at present by an Indisposition: General Pfeffershoven is already gone thither. General Nigrelli, who was Commander in chief in Upper Hungary, died at Caschau on the 23d of last Month. The Rebels are laying a Bridge over the Danube below Buda, and give out they will pass that River with 30000 Men; General Rabutin, Commander in chief of the Imperial Forces in Transylvania, is march'd with a Body of Germans to the Frontiers of Hungary; And Major General Forgatsch has drawn together some Troops in Hungary, in order to prevent the March of the Rebels towards Presburg. The 1st of this Month being the King of Spain's Birth-day, on which he entred into the 19th Year of his Age, was celebrated here with great Splendor and Rejoycings.

From the Hague Gazette, dated October 15.

Paris, October 1. The Elector of Bavaria has sent the King an Account of the Victory won of Count Stirum, and at the same time has remonstrated to his Majesty, that if he will reinforce his Army on the Danube with 8 or 10000 Men, he will undertake to render fruitless the best Efforts of the Imperialists. Some will have it that the Marshal de Tallard is order'd to endeavour to send such a Reinforcement, but the more Prudent are of Opinion the Winter Season is too much advanc'd for such an Attempt.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated October 16.

Nuremberg, October 5. The Fortress of Rothenberg, which the Bavarians were oblig'd lately to surrender to the Troops of Franconia, is begun to be demolish'd. All the Artillery found in it, is sent to the Army commanded by Count Stirum; as is also the Artillery that was employ'd against it; which with the Cannon and Mortars sent from our Arsenal, will make up as large a Train as that Count Stirum lost in the late Action between him and the Enemy.

Nordlingen, October 5. Count Stirum having been supplied with Artillery and reinforce'd with Troops from several Places, is preparing to break up from our Neighbourhood very shortly, either to attempt to joyn the Prince of Baden, or make some Diverfion: The Marquess de Blainville who march'd out of Ulm on the 27th of last Month with a strong Detachment, has put Garrisons into Bibrach, Munderkingen, Ehingen, Rietlingen, and Toneschingen.

From the Hague Gazette, dated Oct. 15.

Ausburg, October 3. The Army of the French and Bavarians, reported to be near 30000 Men strong, lyes within half a League of this Place, and the Prince of Baden is encamp'd under our Cannon. The Enemy threatens this City, but Prince Lewis has caus'd Batteries and Intrenchments to be thrown up at a Place call'd Rosenauerg, which command all the Plain round. Mean time the Count de Mercy makes Incurfions into Bavaria, and brings in a great deal of Corn and other Booty to the Camp.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated October 16.

Frankfort, October 7. We have receiv'd certain Advice that Count Tallard has repass'd the Rhine over the Bridge of Kehl, with part of the Army he commands, and is advanc'd near to Haguenau: But whether he will make an Attempt on Landau, or whether that part of his Army which he has left in the Valley of Kintzig will endeavour to force the Passages of that Valley to joyn the Marshal de Villars on the Danube, while the Marshal de Tallard observes the Troops of the Allies that are posted in the Lines of Stohlhoffen, and keeps them in continual Alarm, to hinder them from sending any Detachment to reinforce the Forces posted to guard the said Passages, is yet uncertain.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Oct. 16.

Landau, October 8. According to the Advices we have had here for some days past, the French draw nearer and nearer to us. To day we learnt that they have summon'd in 1000 Peasants with Tools to break up Ground, and have put a Garrison into Weiffenburg: And towards Night came Advice, that they are advanc'd stil nearer, and are come to Barberoth within 3 Leagues of this Place.

Landau, October 8. Our Parties bring Intelligence, that the French have 1000 Waggon's with them loaded with Bombs, Bullets, and other Ammunition, and and that the Marquess de Varennes with the Troops he commands is to reinforce them. Collonel Loos, with his Hussars, on the approach of the Enemy, is retir'd within half a League of this Place.

Heylbron, October 9. It is reported here that the Marshal de Tallard is joyn'd by the Body of Troops led by the Marquess de Varennes, and is thereupon march'd from Langen Candel towards Weissenburg, with above 1000 Waggon's loaded with Ammunition. Prince Lewis of Baden has intrench'd himself in his Camp near Ausburg. The French and Bavarians are posted near Herrhoffen, having with them 12 Mortars, 20 pieces of Cannon, and Ammunition proportionably; and threaten to Bombard Ausburg.

From the Camp before Gelder, October 12. All our Batteries being in a readiness to Bombard Gelder, the Town was summon'd and honourable Conditions offer'd, but to no purpose, whereupon the Bombarding was begun, and in a little time the Place was almost all laid in Ruins. But yet the Governour shews no Disposition to yield.

Shields, October 5. On the 5th sail'd a Fleet of 100 Sail of laden Colliers for the River without Convoy, the Dartmouth being put into Burlington Bay by bad Winds and is not yet return'd. The Swallow Man of War is yet in Port with above 150 Sail of laden Ships, the Wind being N. W. and our Bar high, 'tis likely they will not sail soon.

Cowes, October 9. Yesterday off the Isle of Wight, a small Vessel of Lymington laden with Salt bound for Rye was taken by a Privateer in sight of the Mediterranean Galley a Letter of Mart Ship bound for Leghorne, who stood after the Prize and retook her with the English Master on board and 15 French Men.

Harwich, October 9. Yesterday and the day before 100 Sail of laden Colliers from Newcastle pass'd by for the River.

A Supplement to the Daily Courant, of Tuesday October 12. 1703.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, Oct. 18.

THE Advices from the Frontiers of Switzerland of the 9th of this Month, run thus,

We are inform'd by several Letters of the rupture between France and Savoy; The Duke of Vendome has caus'd the Troops of his Royal Highness that were in the Service of the 2 Crowns in the Milanese to be disarm'd; Advice of which being brought to Turin, His Royal Highness has caus'd all the French that are in his Dominions to be put under Confinement, among them 130 Officers who were returning to France. Besides this, Orders are issued throughout Savoy for all the Militia of the Country to Arm. His Royal Highness has likewise order'd Arms to be distributed to his Subjects of the Valley of Lucerne, who are in Number 3000 Men, and 'tis not doubted will make Incursions into Dauphine, and may afterwards joyn the Camisars, which last far from being terrified at the Resolution taken to extirpate them, grow more fierce and formidable than ever, as we learn by the Advices brought by the last French Post. There is a Letter from Milan, which says, that 460 Horse of the Duke of Savoy's Troops, having information of the Duke of Vendome's Design, went over to the Imperial Army. 'Tis said the Court of France would oblige the Duke of Savoy to put into their Hands Suze and Verceil, which his Royal Highness will by no means consent to.

Lyons October 3.

'On the 1st an extraordinary Courier from the Duke of Vendome pass'd through this City, to carry the News to Court, that he has caus'd to be made Prisoners of War, the Troops of the Duke of Savoy, that are in the Army of the 2 Crowns, who, 'tis said, design'd to go over to the Imperialists.

Lyons October 5.

'We cannot doubt of the Rupture with Savoy, seeing no Courier is suffer'd to pass through that Country. That Courier who went from hence for the Army in Italy on the 28th Ult. return'd last Night from Pont de Beau Voisin, because he could pass on no further.

From the Rotterdam Gazette, dated Oct. 18.

Basil, Octoberr 10. Letters from Lyons of the 7th of this Month advise, That on the 3d an Express pass'd through that Place dispatch'd from the Duke of Vendome to carry Advice to the King, that he had disarm'd and made Prisoners of War 6000 Men of the Duke of Savoy's Troops that are in the Army of the 2 Crowns, and who 'tis pretended had a Design to go over to the Emperor's Army. Which News is confirm'd by Letters from Milan of the 2d which add, that those Prisoners are sent to Cremona and Mantua; and that the D. of Vendome has order'd Troops to march to lay Siege to Verceil, before any Succours can come to it. The Duke of Savoy is putting all his Places of Strength into a fit State of Defence, and has sent Orders to the Noblesse of Chablais and Chamberi to take Arms.

From other Places we Learn that the Marquess de Sale is gone Post from Turin to Chamberi, to take upon him the Command of the Militia of Savoy, the Inhabitants of which Dukedom begin to convey the best of their Effects to Geneva. From which last Place they write that Monsieur d'Iberville set out from thence on the 8th for the Court of France, but durst not pass through Savoy.

Leiden Gaz. Octob. 18.

'They write from Geneva of the 9th that they had receiv'd surprizing News from Turin, viz. That the Duke of Vendome being return'd to San Benedetto, from his Expedition into the Trentin, caus'd the Duke of Savoy's Troops to be disarm'd, and conducted Prisoners of War to Cremona and Mantua: That on the News of this outrage, the Duke of Savoy has caus'd the French Ambassador at Turin to be seiz'd, as also several Officers of that Nation, with a great sum of Money, and 10000 Fusils that had been brought to Turin to be carried to the Army in Italy.

Toulouze, Sept. 26.

'Some Days ago 4 or 500 Camisars appear'd in our Neighbourhood, but neither burnt one House nor kill'd any Person, and gave out that they intend no hurt to any but those who Collect or pay Tythes, &c. Mean time the Militia are rais'd to prevent their doing any Mischief.

Nismes, Octob. 3.

'While the King's Troops are burning the Villages they are order'd in the Upper-Sevennes, the Camisars burn the Villages in the lower Country, and commit like Ravages within half a League of this Place. So that between one and tother the Country is like to be made a Desert very quickly. However, we have plenty of all things in this Town, and Corn for 2 Years.

Marseilles, Oct. 3. By a Ship arriv'd in this Port, we learn that at Naples a Discovery is made of a most formidable Conspiracy, to favour the Enemies making a Descent in that Kingdom. 'Tis said a certain Nobleman of Naples has sent Turtans to the Enemies Fleet which is about Yvica, to concert Measures with them. A great number of Persons have been seiz'd at Naples for this Conspiracy.

From Basil of the 10th, they write, That there has been an Action between the French and the Imperialists near San Benedetto, in which the former were worsted.

From Ausburg of the 9th, That the Prince of Baden is still encamp'd under that Place, but that the French and Bavarians who were advanc'd near him, are separated into 2 Bodies and are march'd off.

'Cham in the Upper-Palatinate has surrendered to General Herbeville.

'The Marshal de Tallard has not yet made any formal attempt on either side the Rhine.

'Thorn holds out against the Swedes.

From Dusseldorp of the 16th, That the King of Spain arriv'd there that Day Incognito, and would make his Entry publicly the next Day with great Magnificence.

From Cleves of the 17th, That Gelder holds out still.
